PROVIDENCE, RI—DiLeonardo International has formed Di Studio, a dedicated team that is focused on bringing design excellence and experience in a streamlined approach.

For over 40 years, DiLeonardo has been leading the global hospitality design market through interior design. The newly created studio is focused on solutions that allow each project to develop deliverables and documentation through a customizable approach.

Each project is unique and the studio will provide access to excellent design and service with cost effective strategies for projects such as lifestyle, select, boutique, renovations and food & beverage.

The Di Studio team is led by Giana DiLeonardo, partner, Christopher Henderson, project director and Melissa Breen, designer. Together, this team has decades of experience in providing collaborative and coordinated approaches to projects from soft goods renovations to lifestyle concepts.

“Our team is focused on bringing great design and excellent service to these market segments. Most exciting is the opportunity to develop lasting relationships that allow us to leverage our extensive knowledge base for these projects,” said DiLeonardo.

Colleen O’Shea, director business development and client services, said, “Our team is excited to tackle projects large and small and all iterations in between. Having longstanding relationships with the brands will ensure speed to market while remaining on budget.”
